Network Administration

HCL Logistics NV

Dear Network Members,

Freight Forwarders are facing all sorts of challenges right now, having to adapt and diversify. Which is why DSH Global Logistics AUSTRALIA find it so important and truly value being a member of the HCL network..

During this current global crisis, some themes that recur are: increased demand for services, particularly e-commerce and online services; change and evolution to keep up with new trends; focus on quality services and reasonable prices. Another thing we hear regularly is the importance of global coverage. As a member of the HCL Network in recent years, the main challenge for small and middle-sized independent forwarders has been access to more trading partners. The network gives us the power of coverage all over the world.

Whilst Freight Forwarding is considered an "Essential Service" during the current Covid-19 pandemic, Networking is essential in today's forwarding industry. Every shipment is important. We all need a good agent network around the world to help monitor each international shipment.

We at DSH Global Logistics Australia are here to provide assistance with any enquiries that come our way. DSH Global Logistics handle air, sea freight, courier, RORO and warehousing facilities PLUS many more!

Let's continue to overcome challenges, to survive - and thrive - as we move forward together.

The Pandemic has just proved how essential the logistics industry is, to both the global economics and people's daily life. This industry might change or evolve, but it will never disappear.

Please contact us today for all your enquires.

Kind Regards,

The Team at DSH Global Logistics

Industry news—Airfreight rates continue to Normalize

PREMIERE | logistics

Airfreight Market News

Airfreight rates continue to normalize this month on the main trade lanes from China to the U.S. and Europe as demand softens from the peak. Prices from the Chinese hub have been declining rapidly over recent weeks after they surged in March, April in May due to urgent demand for personal protective equipment and the loss of bellyhold capacity.

Demand for personal protective equipment has tapered off a bit as healthcare organizations build up stocks and procurement becomes less chaotic with the departure of newbie groups that raced to find suppliers, but couldn't always execute deliveries at acceptable costs.

Medical supply demand could be in a temporary lull, though, as some doctors say the urgent need is shifting from face masks and respirators to hospital gowns and other items. Meanwhile, the rate of growth for new COVID cases is rapidly climbing in many U.S. states and could require a new surge of protective and therapeutic equipment brought by air.

Therefore, airlines have slightly reduced capacity with cargo-only passenger freighters as the urgency for personal protective equipment decreases.

Overall, even the rate of decline has slowed over the last couple of weeks, current prices are still above the figure for the same week a year ago.
